

Jessica, Medical Assistant and Practice Manager

Jessica has dedicated the past ten years of her life to the medical field, exploring a variety of specialties before finding her true calling in primary care. She found that caring for patients over many years and truly getting to know them was where she felt she could make the most meaningful difference.

Originally from the small town of Broussard, Louisiana, Jessica moved to Hallsville in 2014 and has since made it her home. She loves the small-town life.

Outside of her professional life, Jessica is centered by the things she cherishes most: spending time with her family, reading, and cooking—she can cook delicious South Louisiana food. Her faith is a core part of who she is; she loves Jesus deeply and carries a servant's heart into every area of her life.

Jessica is guided by one of her favorite quotes, a reflection of the values she strives to embody each day:

“The best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others.” — Mahatma Gandhi
